ABOUT THE SONGS

WIDE OPEN

Wide Open is a musical journey to Outlaw Country, and about choosing to live on even in the face of loss. This perfectly harmonized chorus with just the right amount of twang will show you how to pull yourself up by your boot straps and push on with steely-eyed determination.

FINISH LINE

Finish Line is a hard-driving rock anthem where powerful female vocals and searing guitar lines come together like the proverbial rubber meeting the road. It asks the listener to put themselves in the driver's seat of any moment in their life in which they came up 2nd, and how they came back stronger and faster to find their way to victory.

CHANGE

The hard rocker, about the fear and anticipation of the unknown, leads the listener down a path of taking a leap of faith and letting go in order to change.

DREAMER

Every life has failures and heartbreak, but this ballad is a song about believing in yourself, even if the fairy tale doesn't have the happy ending you were expecting.

RETURN TO SENDER

Smacking of the famous 80s power ballads, Return To Sender explores the spaces of your soul reserved for true grief, the loss of a loved one far sooner than expected. Cavernous, reverberating electric guitar and soft, sweet vocals fill the space left by that special someone, issuing a tender goodbye, and trying to answer the questions of 'why them?' and 'will we ever meet again?'

I HATE YOU

I hate you is as blatant as the title. It's a last love letter to all the baggage, anguish and toxicity we've left behind in any of our past relationships. You can literally see the lyrics, burned in black in on a broken heart, screamed and shouted as they turn pain into power, set atop an undeniable chorus bursting with emotion, energy and grit.
